Army Transformation

What is it ...

The process of converting the Army's focus and structure from a cold war construct to a full spectrum combat force, that is strategically responsive and dominant at every point on the spectrum of conflict... It is more than technology – it's training soldiers and growing leaders... it's doctrine, training, leadership, organizations, material readiness, installations, and soldiers.

Army Transformation Office

How to transform ...

Transformation is not a catch phrase, but rather a series of revolutionary steps forward in your Army

What Will Transformation Look Like?

- More soldiers and vehicles
- More support facilities
- More training ranges and facilities (some digital)
- Land purchases
- Upgraded airfield (C17 capable)
- Road upgrade projects
- Internetted training
- Environmental Studies
- Significant Economic Impact
- Housing privatization

Teaming to ensure USARPAC forces are supported by efficient services and facilities and a state-of-the-art networked training infrastructure
